ADP Dealer Services has announced agreement with SiSTeR Technologies to provide Website Video Solutions.

March 31, 2008

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

ADP Dealer Services is pleased to announce that it has entered into an agreement with SiSTeR Technologies to provide a website video solution through ADP's Digital Marketing offering and ADP subsidiary Digital Motorworks, Inc (DMi).

SiSTeR Technologies' Video Car Lot (VCL) renders videos for dealer websites and other automotive portals using existing photos and vehicle feature data from the dealer's Dealer Management System (DMS) and Third Party sources. While most all dealer websites include multiple still photos of vehicles, VCL takes the online shopping experience to the next level with a more engaging experience. Images are stitched together to create videos with automated text-to-speech technology providing the audio. Short advertisements, which allow the dealer to showcase the dealership, run before and after each video.

"The integration of our 3DF player with the Digital Marketing platform will allow for the inclusion of additional vehicle information, such as vehicle history reports and OEM pre-owned certification, in our VCL solution," explains Israel Alpert, President and CEO of SiSTeR Technologies.

"We think dealers are going to be very excited about this new technology to promote their dealerships and vehicles", comments Bill Reilly, Vice President, ADP Digital Marketing. "The potential reach is as broad as the Internet. Wherever a prospect can surf a dealer's inventory, he or she can view the video of that vehicle—whether it's a pc, a smart phone, or any handheld device. It's a turn-key digital solution that requires no additional effort by dealership personnel. We hope to see impressive click-through rates, driving leads to dealerships."

Video Car Lot will automatically be offered as a part of ADP's Digital Marketing solutions.
